

Tar-Aldarion

Dúnadan Ranger, 6th King of Númenor.

Source - Lords of Middle Earth II

Tar-Aldarion was the sixth King of Númenor, whose major accomplishments were his expansion of Númenor's maritime traditions and his Middle-earth explorations. He was married to Erendis, a Númenórean woman of lesser status than Aldarion himself, and therefore she had a shorter life-span. Aldarion's love for the sea ultimately caused a rift between the couple. The tale of their marriage and estrangement survived the Downfall of Númenor as "Aldarion and Erendis" or "The Mariner's Wife".

In his youth, Aldarion had a love for the the sea that became a subject of disagreement with his father. However, despite this altercation with his father, Aldarion had a better relationship with the rest of his family, particularly his grandfather, Vëantur. For it was Vëantur who took him out in the year S.A. 725 on his first voyage on the ship Númerrámar, or the "West-wings", towards Middle-earth. It was in this journey that the bonds of friendship with Círdan and Ereinion Gil-galad were established.

Items

Rod of Venturers - (Sceptre of the Sea Lords).

Symbol of the High-captain of the Uinendil of Númenor, the Guild of Venturers. It was fashioned of mithril, a rod three feet long designed to resemble a stalk or branch. At the tip was a beautifully made flower with five tall petals. Set within the flower, on tall stamens, were five glittering white adamants. The sceptre shimmered with a silvery light, and conferred upon its holder a True Aura. It also allowed free use of the Base Mage Wind Law (MERP) or the Mentalist list Gas Manipulation (RM).

Hammer—(Aratocam) (Captain's Hand)

A gift of the Eldar, the hammer is a +45 pearl-inlaid ithinaur weapon. It floats in water and does additional Impact and Crush criticals (of one level less in severity) in addition to any other it yields. If parried, the parrying item must make a RR verses 21st level, failure resulting in the item being broken.

Ring - (-Sulrosendil) (Friend of the Sea and Foam)

A sister-ring to that worn by Cirdan of Lindon. It permits the wearer to independently control the 'wind in the sails' up to 1 mph /lv for up to 1 ship /lv. All ships must be within sight.

Armor - (Rosennon) (Foam Armor or Foam Cloak)

Again a gift from Cirdan, this +45 blue laen inlaid ithinaur chainmail is unencumbering and floats in water, yet it protects as AT Ch/16.

Full Shield

+30 blue steel and silver mithril, floats in water.

Short Sword

+25 silver mithril blade and gold mithril hilt, hits as a two handed sword, 50 ft throwing range.

Bow of Power

Hollow steel, floats, 3x range and 2x concussion hits.

Additional Notes

Spells - 200pp. X6 pp multiplier ring for all realms.
